

From Front-Line Work to Front-Line Care: The Unrecognized Labor That Keeps Us Afloat

A discussion panel with:

Dr. Brittany Pladek
(Moderator)
Associate Professor
English

Dr. Sergio González
Assistant Professor
History and Languages,
Literatures and Cultures

Dr. Melissa Shew
Visiting Assistant Professor
Philosophy

Dr. Jill Guttormson
Associate Professor
Nursing

Dr. Philip Rocco
Associate Professor
Political Science

The COVID-19 Discussion Series aims to reflect on the historical inequalities that make certain populations particularly vulnerable during the pandemic and on the future challenges these populations might face as a result of the pandemic. The series focuses on the intersections of poverty, race, gender, and issues related to discrimination, labor, and health.

Thursday, March 3rd from 5:00-6:30 pm via YouTube

Please register on Eventbrite for the “COVID-19 Discussion Series”

For more information, please email cfah@marquette.edu