Dates: May 30–June 30
Cost: $1,580 + 6 cr. tuition
Courses: SPAN 3100, SPAN 3310, SPAN 3710 (Pick two; 6 cr.)
Faculty Leader: TBA
This program allows students to explore the urban landscape of Buenos Aires, a vibrant city of 13 million. Specialized coursework in Spanish language, Hispanic literature and culture, and Spanish for the health professions will expand participant familiarity with Argentina beyond tango, Evita and fútbol. Students will live with host families. Prereq: SPAN 3001 by end of spring semester.

Hong Kong, China — The Culture of Traditional and Modern China
Dates: June 11–25
Cost: $590 + 3 cr. tuition
Course: FOLA 4961 (3 cr.)
Faculty Leader: Jing Zhai
This program will challenge students to experience, compare and analyze contemporary life in China’s ultra-modern cities with the lifestyles found in more traditional, rural areas. Students will gain exposure to Chinese language and distinct culture. While exploring Hong Kong, students will visit the most important financial, religious and cultural sites.

Germany and France — Germany’s Reformer: The Life and Theology of Martin Luther
Dates: May 18–June 3
Cost: $2,240 + 3 cr. tuition
Course: THEO 4951 or 5951 (3 cr.; satisfies UCCS)
Faculty Leader: Dr. Mickey Mattox
Students will study the life and theology of Martin Luther in advance of the upcoming commemoration of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation. His work and powerful personality will come to life through excursions to the towns where Luther was born and educated, where he argued and debated, and where he took refuge. Prereq: THEO 1001

Galway and Dublin, Ireland — Literature, History and Culture of Ireland
Dates: July 19–August 14
Cost: $1,440 + 3 cr. tuition
Course: ENGL 6951 or ENGL 2951 (3 cr.; satisfies UCCS)
Faculty Leader: Dr. Tyler Farrell
Students will look at Ireland through the eyes of famous Irish authors of the 20th century, reflecting how they portray the Irish in fiction, short stories and poetry. From readings to first-hand experiences, students will look deeply into authors such as James Joyce, W.B. Yeats, Frank O’Connor and Michael Hartnett.

Muscat, Oman — Project GO: The ROTC Language and Culture Project
Dates: May 14–July 20

Dates: May 31–June 30
Cost: $1,690 + 3 cr. tuition
Course: FOLA 4931 (3 cr.)
Faculty Leader: Dr. Sarah Gendron & Dr. Béa Gallimore (U.of Missouri)
Students will gain an in-depth and first-hand understanding of the events that led to the Rwandan genocide of 1994 and how it continues to inform contemporary Rwandan life twenty years later. Participants will also complete an internship during the second two weeks of the program.

Seoul, South Korea — Comparative Crime and Punishment
Dates: June 17–July 10
Cost: $590 + 3 cr. tuition
Course: SOCI/CRLS 5951 (3 cr.)
Faculty Leader: Dr. Darren Wheelock
Students will study and compare issues of crime and punishment in the U.S. and South Korea alongside students from Sogang University in Seoul. Individuals benefit from experiential learning through prison tours, visits to museums and interactions with criminal justice organizations. Additionally, students will experience South Korea through historical and cultural site visits.

Madrid, Spain — Language and Culture
Dates: July 2–30
Cost: $1,330 + 6 cr. tuition
Courses: SPAN 2001, 2002, 3001, 3100, 3300, 4130 (Pick two, 6 cr.)
Faculty Leader: Dr. Todd Hernández
This program is the ideal introduction to Spain for those who want to improve their Spanish. In addition to classroom learning at the Universidad Complutense de Madrid, a top Spanish university, students will participate in guided visits and excursions to sites around Madrid and Spain. Prereq: SPAN 1001 & 1002/1003.

STUDY ABROAD FAIR: SUMMER

Feb. 5 | 10 a.m.–2 p.m. | AMU 2nd floor

SUMMER SCHOLARSHIPS

There are a variety of national study abroad scholarship opportunities that Marquette students have had success in securing. Scholarships that are a good fit for summer programs include:

- Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship (for students receiving federal Pell Grant funding)
- Critical Language Scholarship (full scholarships for intensive summer language study in one of 13 critical foreign languages)

STUDY ABROAD 101

All non-business students interested in studying abroad are first asked to attend a Study Abroad 101 session. These sessions are designed for students at the very beginning stages of the study abroad process and are led by OIE study abroad coordinators. Topics include selecting a study abroad program, academic planning, application procedures, finances and scholarships. No registration necessary.
