

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE Humanities

DIVISION OF RESEARCH PROGRAMS

* OPPORTUNITIES FOR INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT ***

Fellowships

Fellowships support individuals pursuing advanced research in the humanities that contributes to scholarly knowledge or to the general public's understanding of the humanities. Applicants may be faculty or staff members of colleges or universities, or of primary or secondary schools, or independent scholars or writers. Support is provided for projects that can be completed during the tenure of the award as well as for work that is part of a long-term endeavor. Recipients usually produce scholarly articles, monographs on specialized subjects, books on broad topics, archaeological site reports, translations, editions, or other scholarly tools. Awards are $4,200 per month for awards of six to twelve months in duration. Deadline: May 1, 2013

Awards for Faculty

...at Historically Black Colleges and Universities

...at Hispanic-Serving Institutions

...at Tribal Colleges and Universities

Awards to Faculty support individual faculty members at Historically Black Colleges and Universities, Hispanic-Serving Institutions, and Tribal Colleges and Universities. Awards allow for a range research-related endeavors, including conducting research in primary and secondary materials, writing books and articles based on such research, undertaking research in response to institutional or community needs and aims, and incorporating new research into existing classes. Awards are designed to be flexible. Grants provide time-flexible support for projects that can be completed during the tenure of the award, as well as for work that is part of a long-term endeavor. Awards are $4,200 per month for periods of two to twelve months' tenure (or its equivalent). Deadline: April 16, 2013

Summer Stipends

Summer Stipends provide individuals with an opportunity to pursue research that contributes to scholarly knowledge or to the public's understanding of the humanities. Projects may be completed during the tenure of an award or they may represent part of a long-term endeavor. Recipients usually produce scholarly articles, a monograph on a specialized subject, a book on a broad topic, an archaeological site report, a translation, an edition, a database, or other scholarly tools. The award is $6,000 for two consecutive months of full-time research and writing. Summer Stipends require institutional nomination. Individuals affiliated with institutions of higher education who are interested in Summer Stipends should check with their sponsored research offices for details. Deadline: September 26, 2013

* OPPORTUNITIES FOR INSTITUTIONAL SUPPORT ***

Fellowship Programs at Independent Research Institutions

Fellowship Programs at Independent Research Institutions support domestic and foreign research centers that offer fellowship opportunities in the humanities for postdoctoral and independent scholars. Funding priority is given to programs that provide long-term fellowships of four months or longer. Only independent research institutions may apply for NEH funding. Individuals interested in opportunities at one of the NEH-supported institutions should visit <http://www.neh.gov/projects/fpiri.html>. Deadline: August 15, 2013

Collaborative Research

Collaborative Research grants support original research undertaken by a team of two or more scholars or research coordinated by an individual scholar that, because of its scope or complexity, requires additional staff or resources beyond the individual's salary. Grants support full-time or part-time activities for periods of one to three years. Grantees are expected to communicate the results of their work to the appropriate scholarly and public audiences. Deadline: December 5, 2013

Scholarly Editions and Translations

Scholarly Editions grants support preparation of authoritative and annotated texts and documents of value to humanities scholars and general readers. These materials have been either previously inaccessible or available only in inadequate editions. Projects involve the editing of significant literary, philosophical, and historical materials, but other types of work, such as the editing of musical notation, are also eligible. Editions produced with NEH support contain scholarly and critical apparatus appropriate to the subject matter and format of the edition. Applicants are strongly encouraged to propose electronic editions that provide wide access to scholars and students. Deadline: December 5, 2013

Individuals seeking support for their research projects should also consider funding opportunities through the Library of Congress's John W. Kluge Fellowships Program (www.loc.gov/loc/kluge), the Japan-US Friendship Commission (<http://www.neh.gov/grants/research/fellowships-advanced-social-science-research-japan>), the NEH/NSF Documenting Endangered Languages program (<http://www.nsf.gov>), and the programs supported by NEH at domestic and international centers of advanced research (<http://www.neh.gov/projects/fpiri.html>).

APPLICATION MATERIALS are available on the Endowment's web site: <http://www.neh.gov>. All applications must be submitted through Grants.gov. Staff members of the Division of Research are available to answer questions by telephone or email: 202-606-8200 or research@neh.gov. Hearing-impaired applicants may contact NEH via TDD at 1-866-372-2930.